

Women In Military Service For America Memorial

Today we highlight retired Army Reserve BG Coral Wong Pietsch. In 2001, BG Pietsch became the first woman Army Judge Advocate General and the first Asian American woman to be promoted to general officer in the Army.

She received her Army commission in 1974 in the Judge Advocate General Corps and served on Active Duty and the Army Reserve from 1974-2007. BG Pietsch is now a Judge on the United States Court of Appeals for Veterans Claims. She was inducted into the Army Women's Foundation Hall of Fame in 2017.
